GRIZZLIES FINISH GOLF SEASON
wiltse/jg

MISSOULA--

Defending champion Portland State University, again, won the Nor-Pac Championship Golf Meet held May 15-17 in Tacoma, Washington. Jerry Minor of PSU was tournament medalist with a two-round total of 139.

The University of Montana golf team finished fifth in the five-team field. Junior Dan Munson was low scorer for the Grizzlies with a two round total of 146, good for eighth place among all golfers.

The last place finish, however, was not indicative of the squad's ability, according to UM coach Mike Montgomery. "The teams we felt we would have beaten, decided not to compete in the tournament," Montgomery said.

UM's other five scorers were Gary Burke with a two-round total of 155; Rick Donahue with a 157; Kevin Murphy with a 161; Brad Burtness with a 163 and Rich Swarthout with a 164.

Portland State's winning total was 358, followed by Puget Sound with a 372; Western Washington with a 377; Eastern Washington with a 378 and Montana at 389.

The meet was the final competition of the season for UM.
